The warrant for the special Town Meeting to be held March fifteenth was closed Monday evening by the Selectmen. The only article it contains has to do with the town's share of the cost of the tuberculosis hospital in Waltham.

An alarm of fire from box 15, shortly after midnight, Monday, was for a house at 6 Winter street, owned by Winifred De Roche, 215 Massachusetts avenue, and occupied by Ralph E. Hanna and family. The damage was slight.

FINANCE COMMITTEE CUTS TOWN BUDGETS TO $1,976,000

Are Working for Twenty-Eight Dollar Tax Rate.

The Finance Committee, after working for several weeks on the fifty-two budgets of the town has voted unanimously to recommend an appropriation of $1,976,000. Substantial reductions have been made in the budgets submitted by all of the departments, especially the Board of Public Works and the School Department.

Recommendations on all articles in the warrant are completed except those pertaining to streets. These will be completed this evening. In the warrant articles the Committee is recommending appropriations for police radio, for a connecting link between the old and new high schools, for seats in the auditorium and approximately $12,000 for park projects to take care of the unemployed in the town.

The effort of the committee is to

We're inclined to believe even the most punctilious of billpayers once in awhile have a bad moment and feel like dropping their monthly bills into a waste basket. However... bills will be bills. Ignore them and they'll bob cheerily up again... pay them, and they quiet right down.

So, to help you get this once-a-month duty out of the way as expeditiously as possible, we have a nice pleasant cashier in our Edison Shop in your neighborhood—who'll be glad to handle these bills, if it's more convenient for you to pay them in person. No need to go into town on this matter.

And when you do visit our local shop, look around at the new appliances... there are lots of interesting ones on display right now—that will help you out of many an irksome task—all they ask is the chance. See them too in the shops of the other electric utilities nearby.

DEATHS

B. FRANK DOW

B. Frank Dow, a retired farmer, formerly of North Barnstead, N. H., passed away Sunday at the residence of his nephew, Early D. Leighton, 72 Margaret street. He was seventy-four years old and was born in Barnstead. Funeral services were held in Lynn Wednesday. Burial was in North Barnstead.

MRS. JOHN M. COUSENS

The death of Margaret M., the wife of John M. Cousens of 100 Appleton street, occurred Tuesday. Mrs. Cousens, who was born in Scotland seventy years ago, had made her home in Arlington for forty years. She was interested in various charitable organizations and was always ready to do all that she could to help any who needed it.

Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alan E. Cowie of Florence terrace and Mrs. Walter Thompson of New York, and by one son, Nicholas Cousens, who lives at the Appleton street home.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from her late home with Rev. Mr. Hunter and Rev. Mr. McGill, both of New Bedford, officiating. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

CHARLES D. REDMOND

Charles D. Redmond of 40 Palmer street passed away last Sunday, as the result of a fall two weeks ago, which resulted in his breaking his leg at the hip. It was thought that he would recover until shortly before his death when complications set in. Mr. Redmond, who was seventy-three years old, was born in North Sydney, Cape Breton. He had lived in Arlington for eighteen years and had been in business as a building contractor for forty-two years at 15 Fayette street, Boston.

He was a member of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce, of the Unitarian Laymen's League and of Montezuma Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was a past noble grand. He was also a 32nd degree Mason, a member of Zetland Lodge and of the Shrine. Surviving him are his wife, who came home only a short time ago from Symmes Arlington Hospital, and four daughters—Miss Gertrude Redmond and Miss Adelaide Redmond, who live at the family home, Mrs. R. W. Barker of Philadelphia and Mrs. H. W. Schereschewsky of New York.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Saville Funeral Home with Rev. John Nicol Mark, minister of the First Parish church, officiating. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

QUALIFICATIONS OF CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

The Advocate invited all of the candidates who came up for election on Monday to tell something about themselves, their experience and qualifications, that the readers of the paper might be able to decide intelligently whom to support. Most of the candidates, either themselves or their friends for them, have replied to this request. Their names, followed by the information about them, appear in the order in which they are printed on the ballot.

For Selectman

LEONARD COLLINS

Leonard Collins was born in Arlington, thirty-five years ago. He was educated in and graduated from the Arlington public schools, where he attained distinction in athletics. In 1916 he went to the Officers' Military Training School at Plattsburg, later enlisting in the U. S. Navy.

Returning to Arlington after the war, he went into business for himself, opening a filling station at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Schouler court, and later, another one in which he is still a partner.

In 1924 he married Miss Lillian A. Watson of Malden. They now have four children in their pretty home at 112 Highland avenue.

He has always retained his interest in athletics, and in 1925 coached the Arlington High School baseball team.

During all the years since the war he has had a keen interest in town affairs, studying them in their various aspects. He has been a town meeting member for several years and for five years a member of the Board of Registrars of Voters. Last year he came within 25 votes of being elected Selectman, and polled the second largest vote ever cast for a candidate for Selectman in Arlington.

Mr. Collins represents the spirit of youth in Arlington. He has the enthusiasm, the energy, the courage, the faith in his community of the younger generation. He wants to see a better and ever better Arlington, and he will work for it. He has every reason to be. His business is here, his life is here. He is a home owner and the father of young children, for whom he wants Arlington to be the best home possible.

HOLLIS M. GOTT

I was born in Arlington in 1885, educated in our public schools, and have always lived here. I own my own home and reside with my wife and two daughters at 90 Churchill avenue. During the war service I held rank as captain in Massachusetts State Guard where it was my privilege to train and drill men previous to their enlistment for war service. In summer of a company largely composed of Arlington men, I served for two months during the Boston Police strike in 1918. In 1922 I was appointed a member of the Finance Committee of Arlington. In 1924 I was elected its chairman, which office I held until the same year when I was elected a member of the Board of Selectmen. In May, 1926, I served the town as a member of the board for the past six years and as its present chairman. Those who desire to retain my services on the Board of Selectmen are men and women of the highest standing in the community who have shown faith in my ability and integrity, and who have not only supported me, but have also demanded my being returned to office on March 4.

I have been closely identified with the many public improvements the town has enjoyed during the past six years of growth and expansion. Our public facilities have kept pace with our increased population. During my term of office the fire and police departments have been newly housed in modern fireproof buildings, supplied with efficient and dependable apparatus, ready to furnish instant protection against fire and lawlessness. The lighting of our highways has been greatly improved. Previous to 1924 only accepted streets were lighted, now all streets open to public travel are well lighted. During the past six years over ten and one-half miles of new streets have been constructed at a cost of over $472,000. Over seventeen and one-half miles of permanent granite sidewalks, and nearly fourteen miles of curb have been placed in our highways. Space does not permit me to enumerate many other improvements for which I have been somewhat responsible. I do not seek re-election for any selfish motive or personal gain or advancement, but rather, to be in a position to continue to serve my fellow citizens in the same manner that seems to have won general commendation of those well qualified to judge.

For Board of Public Works

Three Years

RALPH ADAMS

You, the voters of Arlington, are the shareholders in a municipal corporation—the Town of Arlington. If you were shareholders in a private business you would elect a board of directors to manage the business. They would be men in whom you had confidence because of their business ability and integrity. They in turn would elect a president or a superintendent to administer the business under their direction.

As shareholders of the Town of Arlington, you have set apart definite functions of your town government to be supervised by your Board of Public Works, whom you have elected as "directors" of their part of the town business. Your Board of Public Works, in recent years, have had no Superintendent to execute the policies of the Board, but have retained this power to themselves.

The administration of public works in a town the size of Arlington is a profession, the logical training for which is the practical experience gained in designing and constructing public works. So long as this Board retains the duty of executing its own policies, it is imperative that you select trained civil engineers for this Board. Your Board of Public Works spends over half a million dollars annually. Since the spending of this large sum of money in a private business would demand a qualified executive, why is not the same care imperative in town administration? A civil engineer trained to supervise the spending of large sums of money would seem to be a qualified candidate.

The Arlington Citizens' Committee believes my eight years of experience as a trained civil engineer actively engaged in the design, construction and supervision of water works, sewer systems, bridges, and other public works eminently qualifies me for your consideration as a member of the Board of Public Works.

F. LEO DALTON

F. Leo Dalton offers himself as a resident and business man of the town of Arlington with qualifications, due to actual experience, ready to serve you. If you believe that experience is necessary in performing the exacting duties incumbent on a member of your Board of Public Works, you will re-elect him on Monday, March 5th.

M. FRANCIS MEAD

M. Francis Mead, candidate for the Board of Public Works, was born in Arlington, educated in our public schools and a business college. He was superintendent at Long Island (Boston) for the City of Boston for four years and served in the Navy Department during the World War. He is engaged in the market gardening business and is a property owner.

If elected, Mr. Mead says he will do the best for the citizens as a whole, but that the department most in need of improvement is the fire department. He will endeavor to give preference to employment to citizens first, and a stop to the tendency to hire of taxpayers' money and was not to be considered as a favor to individuals, but as a benefit to the town.

John E. Mitchell, the candidate for the Board of Public Works, was born in the town of Arlington, educated by the Arlington City School. He is well known and highly respected in Arlington as a man of outstanding ability, character and integrity. His acquaintances and friends are in all walks of life, ranging from the lowly to those in the financial and professional ranks.

He was born in Clinton where he received his early education. He is a graduate of Boston College, 1916, where he participated in sports and managed the first B. C. basketball team that ever had a southern trip. He is now recognized as the father of southern trips at Boston College. During the summer he worked in the Boston wholesale market district for T. E. Holway and W. W. Rawson, both of Arlington.

Shortly after graduation, Mr. Mitchell entered the service and spent about eighteen months overseas. After the armistice he was selected out of a very limited number of the A. E. F. and sent to the University of Leeds in Leeds, England, for special studies. While at Leeds he majored in science and economics under Professor Barker.

On returning from France he entered the financing business, specializing in the financing of new homes. In 1922 he organized the Home Service Company which is the mortgage department of the Dix Lumber Company of Cambridge. This company, under the management of Mr. Mitchell, has been of great assistance to those desiring to build their homes. Over a million dollars worth of homes have been built in Arlington directly under his supervision. He is well known and highly respected by the bankers of Arlington, with whom he has done a great deal of business.

Public works and improvements, taxation and expenditures have been his particular study for ten years, and we have yet to meet a man of Mr. Mitchell's years who is better informed on these matters.

He is 33 years old, is a family man through and through. He has five children and in this group are beautiful girl twins. He lives at 20 Belton street and is a very substantial taxpayer.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

For Assessor—Three Years

HARRY P. HOPKINS

Harry P. Hopkins, candidate for assessor, submits as his qualifications the following: He became associated in the real estate business June, 1931, with William D. Lang of Dorchester, and has been actively interested in it since that time.

He received his early education in the Boston public schools, later took up study of mechanical drafting and entered into contracting and building lines at that time.

He first came to Arlington in 1919 as manager for the Chas. E. Hoye Co., later in 1932 he opened his own office now located on Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, and has really grown up with the town during the past thirteen years, and has, therefore, become thoroughly versed in the values of Arlington properties.

It has been his privilege to serve the Board of Assessors from time to time along advisory and appraisal lines.

He is a charter member and past president of the Arlington Rotary Club and has served as director of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce, also as director of one of our local banks, maintaining a branch of same in his present office.

Mr. Hopkins' business being located in Arlington permits his services to be more readily available whenever required.

RICHARD W. O'CONNELL

Richard W. O'Connell is one of the younger progressive business men of Arlington. He has been in business in Arlington for the past ten years, and through his initiative and outstanding ability has built up an extensive real estate and insurance clientele.

Mr. O'Connell believes that the time is ripe for a downward revision of real estate valuations in Arlington on a scientific basis in order to distribute the growing tax burden more equitably.

Mr. O'Connell has been in close touch with the conditions in Arlington during the past ten years, and can be depended upon to go directly to the root of the trouble and do his utmost to apply the proper remedy on the Board of Assessors.

AUGUSTUS J. POWER

Born in Arlington. All my business life I have been identified with real estate activities and at present am in the real estate business in this town. For ten years, I was a Registrar in the State Department of Labor and Industry. Was a member of the Arlington Board of Assessors from 1926 to 1931 and served on the Finance Committee for two years. During my last year on the Board the Block System mentioned in a current issue of the Advocate was installed. Am not controlled or nominated by any political faction, association or clique. Have made no promises in regard to favors. Am actuated by one purpose only—fair, just and impartial service to each and every taxpayer. My former colleagues on the Board and thousands of our citizens will subscribe to my fairness and integrity while serving the town in the past. If elected my only promise is a continuance of that same faithful service in behalf of the entire citizenry of Arlington and that I earnestly will endeavor to lower the taxes in Arlington.

EARL A. RYDER

I have been in Canada, and have been a naturalized citizen of the United States for thirty years.

I have lived in Arlington for 27 years. Have served on the Finance Committee; I am and have been since its inception, Chairman of the School Accommodations Committee; and I have been a town meeting member since that form of government was inaugurated.

I was employed by the Boston & Maine Railroad for 32 years, 18 years in the Executive Department as stenographer and Secretary to two Presidents, and also Clerk of the Board of directors, and Clerk of the Corporation; for six years I had charge of the Fire Prevention Department, and for eight years I was in charge of the Real Estate Department, during which time we sold about three million dollars worth of all kinds of real estate; and for the last six years

I have been in the industrial real estate business.

I have served on the Board of Assessors for the last two and a half years, having been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Martin Gallagher, and elected to the Board in March, 1930.

The Board of Assessors consists of three members, and no one member can promise what will or will not be done, but I appreciate the present condition of the real estate market. I know that values in many cases are not now what they were last April 1st, and I can assure all the people in Arlington that without partiality and without favoritism I will use my best efforts to see that equitable value of property. I believe my record on valuations are assessed on all classes the Board shows that I have been fair and reasonable as near as humanly possible, and that I have tried to serve my fellow citizens and taxpayers in a helpful manner. If I am elected, I pledge the same fidelity to my oath of office—and permit me to add, that my experience on the Board makes it apparent that I should be able to render even better service in the future than in the past.

For School Committee—One Year

JOHN F. BRENNAN

My principal purpose, if chosen, will be to give the children the best in education at lowest cost.

No department of the town government approaches schools in expense of maintenance. In these trying economic times, therefore, a school committee member should have a fixed determination to save money in his department—the most expensive in the town.

I am not a professional educator, but the committee should have among its members a man to represent the plain views of citizens at large, to balance the professional outlook of those in daily charge of schools.

I am a newspaperman, college-trained (A. B.) and the father of two children. The committee, to my mind, may well have a new view, a fresh view, a young parents' view. Though not a professional educator, one of my strongest theories is a healthy mind in a healthy body. The importance of health to a child for a successful, happy life can hardly be overestimated.

Arlington school standards are notably high, but just as eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, so unceasing alertness is needed to maintain school standards—and to improve them—economically. It may be wrong to feel too satisfied. What ever dissatisfaction exists, concerns school buildings and cost. The time to correct these errors—if there have been errors—is before the cement is poured.

I have been endorsed by a group of honorable citizens. I have no political debts to pay nor am I going to contract any.

KATHARINE W. LACEY

Katharine W. Lacey, a candidate for the School Committee, one year term, has been a resident of Arlington for twenty-two years and is a property owner.

She was born in Massachusetts. Her father was a trustee of Smith College for over thirty years, from its earliest days until it had grown to have an undergraduate body of 1250 girls. She was one of nine children, two brothers older, six sisters younger, all college graduates.

She graduated from Smith College with the degree of A. B. Because of the character of her work in Biology, she was urged to return to college for advanced work in this line. She decided a broader outlook on life would be achieved by accepting an appointment to the Massachusetts General Hospital. She spent two years and a half in that institution, studying all kinds of nursing. Her experiences in the Out-Patient Department and the District were unusually helpful in her study of human nature. She learned the way through the lowliest cross-street and short cuts in Boston, where her little black bag was respected by people in all walks of life. She also worked at the Lynde and the Bellevue Hospitals in New York. Then her work carried her again to that district, with the Bowery, Chinatown and those crooked streets on the lower East Side, which is so much like Boston.

At the time she was married her husband, Edward N. Lacey, was a member of the Arlington School Committee and represented it on the Building Committee in charge of the addition to the Crosby School. Her interest in Arlington Schools began at that time. She has five children. The oldest one, entering school in 1916, prepared for college in four years at Smith College. The other four children are still in our schools, one in Senior High, one in Junior High and two in the Farmer School. She is known in every school in Arlington and is personally acquainted with the principals of all the schools.

Her home is her chief concern, but running a close second are the Arlington Public Schools.

For School Committee—Three Yrs.

MRS. NORINE D. CASEY

Mrs. Norine D. Casey has been endorsed by thousands of Arlington residents as one of the most promising candidates for a three-year term on the Arlington School Committee.

Mrs. Casey was born in Brockton and educated in the public schools of Milford, Worcester, Salem and Providence. She is a graduate of the Roxbury High School and the Boston Normal School. Mrs. Casey taught for eight years in the Boston public schools, which service included all grades—first to eighth, inclusive.

The candidate is the mother of four children, three of school age, who have attended only Arlington public schools. Her personal interest and executive ability are readily recalled in her active promotion of relief measures to control the scarlet fever prevalent in the Farmer district.

Her extended experiences as teacher and mother, incorporated with her fundamental scholastic education will be of infinite value applied in the service of Arlington as a member of the School Committee.

Mrs. Casey has been a resident property owner in Arlington for many years, hence she is vitally interested in the economical expenditure of school appropriations.

I am a candidate for the School Committee for the three-year term in the coming election on March 7, and believe that I am qualified to serve the people of the Town of Arlington in this position and am willing to submit my qualifications to their final approval.

I was born in Arlington and have always resided in this town. I attended the Arlington Public Schools and was graduated from them. I then attended law school and am a member of the Massachusetts Bar. I believe that from my many years of residence in this town and from my years of association with the public schools, I am qualified to serve the town so that it may educate its children to their best advantage. Also being one of a family of nine children, I can well understand the problems presented to the parents in trying to educate their children.

I believe that we should not deny the children anything that is necessary for their education, but do believe that the money used for educational purposes should be spent economically and that the tax payers should see the proper results from the expenditure of their hard-earned money.

A sound body helps develop a sound mind and the children of Arlington should have the best physical and mental training that it is possible for us to give them so that they will be a credit to themselves and to the town in years to come.

There is no question but what we should have the finest schools in the State and if I am elected, I shall endeavor to make them so.

BASIL L. GIFFIN

I have been a resident of the town of Arlington for over seven years, have instructed children in the public schools for two years, am a graduate of one of the outstanding accounting schools of this state, and at present employed by a local manufacturing corporation as cost accountant.

I feel that the people of Arlington require a man on the school committee who understands business management in all branches, such as accounting, purchasing, and financing, and as my education and experience covers all forms of business management, I aspire to become a member of the committee.

The people of Arlington have felt the pangs of the depression as well as those in other parts of our nation, and for this reason need people in the town government who will work to get the most, for as little money as possible, and it is with the idea to save the voter as much money as possible I will work if elected.

You would not invest your money in a business enterprise if you experienced banker advised you otherwise. Therefore, why elect people who are not trained in finance for your school committee.

HENRY C. ROWLAND

Henry C. Rowland, candidate for School Committee, Resident of Arlington 17 years; practicing attorney at law over 20 years; member of Massachusetts Bar; member of United States District Court; paid Town of Arlington taxes on over $100,000 real estate in past years.

Father of nine children, eight in school at present time, all honor students. I know the essentials of education of children and I am intensely interested in the welfare of every child in Arlington schools. It will be my pleasure and duty to act for the interests of every mother's child. The proper education of the child of today is our hope for the future welfare of the town and nation.

My experience is that you should keep the schools out of politics and avoid group endorsements that tend to develop partisan and party government and are not for the best interest of the town. Election to town office should be non-partisan, not in group interest to build up a machine or party government.

Divorce our municipal affairs from group and party government. Develop a municipal spirit by a non-partisan election. You help build a machine by voting for group candidates and that affects the future of democracy itself. Keep the schools out of politics.

M. NORTON STRATTON

M. Norton Stratton, present chairman of the School Committee and a candidate for re-election, is a native of Denver, Colorado, and was educated in the Denver Public Schools. Mr. Stratton graduated from the Fitchburg Normal School. He was honored by Holy Cross College when the degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon him in 1927. Mr. Stratton began his teaching career in Springfield, later becoming Director of the Practical Arts School there. He was instructor of teaching method at the Fitchburg Normal School, and for the past 15 years has been Supervisor of Teachers and Chief Supervisor of the Vocational Division in the Massachusetts State Department of Education.

He is the author of many pamphlets and magazine articles on educational subjects and has lectured at Boston University and Holy Cross College and other colleges, also at many National and State Educational Conventions.

For several years Mr. Stratton was Director of the Summer School for teachers in service conducted at Hyannis Normal School for Vocational School teachers. For the past ten years he has been Director of the Vocational Summer School held at the Fitchburg Normal School.

Mr. Stratton is an Arlington tax payer and has lived in Arlington for fourteen years. He has served Arlington as a town meeting member, a member of the School Committee for six years (during which time he has been absent from only three regular meetings), a member of the Committee on Additional School Accommodations, a member of the Special Investigating Committee on Junior High Schools, a member of the Unemployment Committee.

He holds a commission as Lieutenant in the Naval Reserves, is a member of the Boston City Club, Vocational Educational Society of Boston, American Vocational Association, Massachusetts Superintendents' Association, Eastern Arts Association, and other educational societies.

He is married and a father of five children. Both the Arlington Civic League and the Citizens Committee have endorsed Mr. Stratton for a three-year term on the School Committee.

MORTIMER H. WELLS

It is my opinion that the work of the School Committee requires members with knowledge, not only along educational lines but, as the school department is one of the largest divisions of Town business, with diversified business training.

My own business keeps me in touch with merchants and manufacturers in many lines and requires a knowledge of how to reduce expense, without impairing efficiency, which has been of great assistance to me during my two years on the School Committee.

During the past two years, the Committee has effected many economies. The results are beginning to show in substantial reduction in budget requirements without any reduction in the school population, or without any impairment in efficiency. Much yet remains to be accomplished. Various changes are in contemplation and the continuation of the present committee will enable it to finish the work now in process. This is the reason for my seeking re-election.

My qualifications can be summed up in two words, "Business Training," but these are supplemented by my five years service as a member of the Finance Committee, and my membership on the school sub-committee of that body, which gave me a working knowledge of the requirements of the School Department.

For Park Commissioner—Three Yrs.

MICHAEL J. DUGGAN

Michael J. Duggan, life long resident of Arlington, who is running for Park Commissioner in the coming election, is very familiar with the park situation in Arlington. It was not for any personal gain that Mr. Duggan decided to run for office, but because of his keen desire to get a safe place for the children of the town to play, and because many of his friends asked him to join the race knowing full well his ability to carry out worth while plans.

Although he has held no political office before, and has never run, Mr. Duggan has had a vast amount of experience in executive work, having for the past fifteen years served as business representative and secretary-treasurer of the Building Trades Organization of Massachusetts. He was at one time president of the Massachusetts State Council of the Painters' Union, which represents 14,000 painters, and is at present on the executive board. He also has represented the Union in the state legislature, and was successful in putting through the rigging bill which was a law designed to make employers furnish equipment that would insure safe conditions for workmen.

The candidate for Park Commissioner was a pupil at the old Crosby School when it was a two-room building much resembling the school houses in rural districts today. He delights in telling his friends of the good time he had there, and takes particular joy in relating anecdotes of his experiences while a youngster in East Arlington. At that time there were no parks or playgrounds in the town, but there were plenty of fields and woods for children to play in. Mr. Duggan feels that there has not been sufficient progress in park building.

Michael, as he is known throughout East Arlington, is the oldest living member of a family of nine children. He is a lover of youngsters, and is well liked by them. As a matter of fact it is not unusual to see them meet him on the street in large numbers to escort him home and joke and chat with him. If elected, Mr. Duggan will endeavor to benefit the children of the town, and will do all in his power to make their play safer, and their lives happier. He will also see to it that there are more trees planted and cared for.

He is a member of the Elks, and Deputy High Chief Ranger in St. Malachi M. C. O. F., No. 85.

For Planning Board—Three Years

LESTER W. COLLINS

Lester Wright Collins—Candidate for re-election to the Planning Board, Graduate of Tufts College, Engineering Department, Construction engineer and personnel work.

CAROLYN B. REED

Seven years ago the members of the Planning Board asked me if I would become a member of their board. I considered and was elected for three years. Then there was an unexpected term of one year, Mr. Walton Sears having taken Mr. Pond's place. I persuaded Mr. Sears to take the three-year term and I took the one year. After that I was again elected for a three-year term. We have a very congenial, harmonious and active board. From Boston we are told the ideal Planning Board is composed of business men, engineers and a woman, which is our board.

We have monthly meetings and sometimes meet every week. We have spent many afternoons tramping over land we are making plans for. Fowle's Pond, Sucker Brook, Turkey Hill, the Wellington playground, the reservoir and playground at the heights, Spring street, where we hope to have a splendid new road to relieve the traffic in the center, and Spy Pond, where the town has purchased two lots of land at our suggestion. We have the refusal of land on the side of the pond near Lake street. We also have plans for a swimming pool and bath house on Spy Pond, but are not asking the town for any large appropriations because of the depression.

It has been said "The Planning Board has no teeth nor authority," but it has been our experience that when we have put well-laid plans before the Town they have given us all the authority we have needed and nearly all our plans have been accepted.

I have lived in Arlington over thirty-five years, have two sons and two granddaughters. I own my home, and have been a town meeting member ever since that form of government was adopted by the town. I am a trustee of the Symmes Arlington Hospital, have been chairman of the Red Cross since the war. For many years I served as president of the Women's Aid Association, Claver Lend-a-Hand and as secretary of the District Nursing Association. Because of my horseback riding I have good knowledge of the streets, parks and playgrounds and traffic conditions of Arlington.

WILLIAM J. ROBINSON

I have been in the building and real estate business in Arlington for many years, and have designed, built and developed over half a million dollars' worth of property in the town. The developing of this property made it necessary to be in close touch with the activities and duties of the Planning Board.

I have been a substantial taxpayer. I have been a town meeting member since our present form of town government has been in existence.

My training and experience has been such that it merits the confidence of the citizens of Arlington.

For Cemetery Commissioner

FRANCIS A. O'HEARN

Francis A. O'Hearn, candidate for the office of Cemetery Commissioner, became a resident of Arlington in 1919 and has always taken an active part in town affairs. At present he is serving his third three-year term as a Town Meeting Member, being chairman of his Precinct. Mr. O'Hearn was nominated for the Finance Committee but chose to remain a Town Meeting Member where the Town Council ruled that both offices could not be held by the same person.

Mr. O'Hearn is employed by the New England Insurance Exchange as Branch Manager of Metropolitan Boston and this administrative position, which he has held for many years and his contact with the general public qualify him to administer the duties of the office which he seeks, in a fair and efficient manner.

MIDDLESEX TAKES TWO

The Middlesex Sportsman's Boston Pin Bowling Team administered a two-to-one defeat to Waban last week at the Middlesex Clubhouse. Yeager of the local team made the best high single score, 145, and also scored the highest three-string total, 368. His bowling was beautiful to watch, and accounted in a large measure for the local supremacy. The scores:

	Middlesex	Waban
Cobb	106	86
Yeager	185	145
Goodwin	92	86
Milroy	109	128
Missy	117	82
	525	543
Allen	106	86
Davis	125	98

Mrs. Matthews, oral English teacher, spent her vacation in New Rochelle, New York.

Mrs. Moffatt, head of the history department, has left school for the rest of the year with the possibility of returning next year. Mr. Meyers is taking her place. He is a graduate of Harvard and is working for his Ph.D. degree.

The faculty and students of the Arlington High School are glad to welcome back Alban Fowler, head of the science department, who has been confined to his home for the past two months.

Miss Ida Jewett, instructor of biology and physics, is back in school after a short illness.

The Student Council has proposed a plan whereby an afternoon study class will be arranged from the hours of 2:30 to 4:30 for pupils wishing to take advantage of this opportunity. The school library will be closed for the purpose and the teacher in charge will be selected by Mr. Gammons.

Did you know that Ski Dineen is singing over Station WLEY every Friday evening at 8:30, accompanied by Eddie Flynn at the piano? It looks as though Ski has a great future ahead. Last Friday's performance is an indication.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 6.

The Golden Text is: "For he that believeth, fear not; peace be unto thee; be strong, yea, be strong." (Daniel 10: 19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, and that shall not fear heat, nor shall he be troubled by drought, neither shall he be moved by the wind, neither shall he be moved by the heat of the sun." (Jeremiah 17: 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health": "The spiritual man is not of the material; he is of the spirit, and his life is in the spirit. He is not of the flesh, and his life is in the flesh. He is not of the world, and his life is in the world. He is not of the body, and his life is in the body. He is not of the mind, and his life is in the mind. He is not of the soul, and his life is in the soul. He is not of the spirit, and his life is in the spirit. He is not of the life, and his life is in the life. He is not of the truth, and his life is in the truth. He is not of the love, and his life is in the love. He is not of the wisdom, and his life is in the wisdom. He is not of the power, and his life is in the power. He is not of the glory, and his life is in the glory. He is not of the honor, and his life is in the honor. He is not of the riches, and his life is in the riches. He is not of the health, and his life is in the health. He is not of the life, and his life is in the life. He is not of the truth, and his life is in the truth. He is not of the love, and his life is in the love. He is not of the wisdom, and his life is in the wisdom. He is not of the power, and his life is in the power. He is not of the glory, and his life is in the glory. He is not of the honor, and his life is in the honor. He is not of the riches, and his life is in the riches. He is not of the health, and his life is in the health. He is not of the life, and his life is in the life. He is not of the truth, and his life is in the truth. He is not of the love, and his life is in the love. He is not of the wisdom, and his life is in the wisdom. He is not of the power, and his life is in the power. He is not of the glory, and his life is in the glory. THE BEST TEACHER

"Experience is the best teacher," a trite saying, but as true today as it was when our grandmothers pricked their fingers working it on their samplers. Particularly, is experience valuable in matters of government, as in such affairs the practical school is the only school.

Anyone who has taken a position in a new office, even if the work is what he has been used to, knows that it is necessary to learn about the rules of procedure of the office before the work can be efficiently performed. When the work is new this period of "breaking in" is longer and more difficult.

In the town government the technicalities to be mastered are usually greater than in the ordinary business office. There are state laws which must be remembered as well as the by-laws of the town itself. For instance, the town is functioning under the state system of accounts, which tells, to a certain extent, how the money appropriated for the various departments can be spent. A knowledge of the state system is essential if mistakes, which may prove serious, are to be avoided.

Knowledge of the prices of materials, of bids made and prices quoted in the past are also items of experience that are valuable. Any woman knows how much more economically the experienced shopper can buy.

There is another adage that might be quoted just here; it has to do with changing horses in midstream. So many are the projects which are only partially finished that it seems unwise to turn their completion over to new hands.

Especially this year, when there is contemplated a change in the town government, does it seem the part of wisdom to keep in office the men who, familiar with the present functions of their positions, will be able the more smoothly to effect the change, should the voters give it their final approval.

Especially, also, this year when the greatest economy and, therefore, the greatest efficiency, are absolute essentials is it of the utmost importance to return to office men whose experience makes it possible for them to place at the service of the town that efficiency.

A REAL CONSERVATIVE

Governmental economy has been a favorite subject lately. Even those who have been most fond of spending public moneys have been advocating drastic reductions this year. But in a talk before the Arlington Kiwanis Club a few days ago, Hollis M. Gott, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, presented a slightly different angle. Mr. Gott is a real conservative and does not believe in extravagance of economy any more than he favors lavish expenditures.

When times were good and everyone was feeling very free with his purse, said Mr. Gott, Arlington was spending public funds at the rate of nearly three million dollars a year. But, withal, we kept within bounds. When all about us municipalities were jumping over the traces and spending money all out of reason with the immediate needs and necessities of the near future, Arlington maintained its financial integrity. We did not stop over.

And, as Mr. Gott advised, we should not stop over now. America is a nation of extremists, but as Arlington's public men kept their heads when times were abnormally good, so now they will not let the pendulum swing too far in the opposite direction.

A PRACTICAL SUGGESTION

From a practical politician comes the suggestion that a vote for a straight ticket will result in a more efficient town government, whichever side wins. The men on one ticket will cooperate willingly. There will be no disagreement to prevent the smooth working of governmental machinery; none of that friction which is as fatal to human relationships as to the parts of an automobile engine.

Town politics are non-partisan. A complete slate is endorsed, however, by one or the other of two committees—the Citizens' and the Civic. The political advertisements indicate which candidates each of these endorses.

Low—Sucker Brook is so low that Schwamb's mill is no longer run on peat tea, but recourse to steam is necessary.

Serenade—The friends of W. S. Hutchinson, who has recently made a second matrimonial venture, called on him the other evening and tendered him a complimentary serenade. The music by the Jews Harp Band was very fine.

Shall we have a Public Library?—Let all the friends of education give it one hour of their best thought, and they will see that a good public library is now the principal want in Arlington.

The Board of Selectmen met

Here and There

"A prophet is not without honor save in his own country" is not a true maxim where Tom Carens is concerned. He came to speak before the Chamber of Commerce as a local boy who had made his mark in journalism and business and he left with his hearers a great appreciation of his powers as a raconteur and an orator. His manner, his mastery of his subject made this writer proud of his profession and proud of the fact that he, too, was born in Arlington.

Before the meeting was called to order, Mr. Carens approached the Advocate reporter and handed him a prepared extract of the speech he was going to make. He explained that he was going to say some things which he did not want published and so had done the reporter's work for him.

After hearing the speech we have this to say. Mr. Carens may be highly regarded as a political correspondent. He may be one of the best writers the Boston Herald ever had on its staff, but he cannot report his own speeches with any kind of justice. If the reporter had had his way, he would have thrown away that prepared copy and shown Mr. Carens how it should have been done, but unfortunately a promise is a promise.

Before getting into the body of his talk Tom indulged in one or two local personalities. He mentioned State Senator Charles C. Warren and recalled a day ten years ago when Mr. Warren walked into the Herald office and asked Tom's advice on his becoming a candidate. Tom said, "I suppose you have your statement all written out." Mr. Warren had, and pulled said document from his pocket. Apparently it was not advice the Senator was looking for.

During his talk he reminded Anna B. Callahan, who was in the audience, that the last time he had seen her was in Houston, Texas, in 1928. Tom was covering the Democratic convention. On the night that Al Smith was finally nominated, they were all supposed to attend a garden party at eight or nine o'clock. But the final ballot had not been counted much before midnight; so everyone was a little late for the party. Tom was dancing around when whom should he see but Anna Callahan—way down in Texas.

Later the same night, it being a party of the Democrats, by the Democrats and for the Democrats, they thought that they ought to have a rally. Some was suggested that Tom make a speech, and he did. It was the only time when he, as an enrolled Republican, had ever made a speech at a Democratic rally, but it was a big success.

Tom said when he came in that he gathered from the conversation going around that Arlington was in the midst of a political battle. After listening for a time, he thanked the Lord that he didn't vote in Arlington any more. One could construe that remark in different ways, but we hope that he meant that with so many candidates running for the same offices, it would be difficult for him to choose.

We have not yet heard what odds are being quoted in the battle for selectman. The other contests are even more difficult to figure, since there are so many in the various fields. But we are willing to wager at least one thing. The election is going to be awfully close. Every voter in town may have the balance of power. A single vote may do the trick.

After reading the various political advertisements and statements of some of those running for the office of assessor, one is reminded of a man who invested in a device to save half his gasoline. Then he got two or three more which were guaranteed to do double his mileage. Finally it became necessary for him to drain his tank every few miles, so great was the saving. We suggest that we elect all the assessors who promise us such saving. They would save us so much that in the end the town would owe the taxpayer money.

Concord had a wild election last Monday. There were 2995 registered voters in the town and the total which turned out on election day was 159. Election officials had to drag people in from the streets in order to get the first block of fifty so they could count the ballots. Not a single office was contested. Nor did we need to smile. Things were not so very different in Arlington a few short years ago.

The abduction of the Lindbergh baby has stirred the whole nation. Every mother is almost as much concerned as though it were her own child. The extravagant lamentation of our wives has, however, caused some of us more callous men some little amusement. A young husband brought Wednesday morning's paper with its screaming headlines to the breakfast table. The young mother took one look and rushed to the nursery to see if the youngster was still there. "There, there," he said, "the boy's all right, we aren't important enough to have kidnappers bother with us."

"Oh," she cried, "we will never have any money, will we?" "Probably not," he sighed. "Thank heaven," she sighed.

A youthful husband was feeling the pinch of circumstances, namely hard times and new arrivals, and was considering whether it would not be advisable to give up his rather expensive apartment and share a monthly rent with his in-laws. "Well," said a friend, "it would be a little like moving into a cemetery lot—you would get perpetual care."

The exposition held at the Town Hall Monday was quite impressive in many ways. One would not have supposed that a non-manufacturing town could house so many crafts. Among those exhibiting handwork were Mrs. Charles M. Shedd, who was making silhouettes. Her subject at the time we passed by was Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes, president of the Woman's Club. Apparently Mrs. Hawkes was having some difficulty in refraining from laughing, for she had a screen of two ladies interposed between herself and those who sought to embarrass her. Which proves that Upton Close is not the only one who can cause embarrassment to the president of the Woman's Club.

Miss Anderson, the florist, was probably the most popular person in the hall when we were there. She was giving away flowers. "A rose to the living," Nixon Waterman said. But when the children got under way, she was nearly killed in the rush.

The children were still showing considerable vocal enthusiasm when Russell Curry and Betty Stokes were dancing on the stage. Someone in the balcony remarked that they were doing wonderfully well, especially with no accompaniment. The joke of it was that Mrs. H. H. Stinson was playing the piano all the time.

SOPHISTICATED ONLOOKER.

Sunday for Church and Home
To the Editor of the
Arlington Advocate,
Dear Sir:

Again—a strong agitation for Sunday Movies! This propaganda seems to come from those who are chiefly interested in box-office receipts. But six days a week are enough for this or any other business. Sunday has been, and should be, for the Church and the Home. Sunday movies are not helpful to either. People ought to become acquainted with the home at least one day a week, and that should be Sunday. Keep Sunday different from other days. The spirit of reverence is fast disappearing, especially among the young. Keep up reverence for Sunday.

The promoters of Sunday Movies cry out: "Some cities near by have Sunday Movies." Well, what of it? Should Arlington go with all downward movements? Why not look up and keep Arlington with the many towns who have them not? Why is it that so many have left those cities and towns and have come to live in Arlington? Arlington is noted as a desirable place to live in—a residential community—keep it so. Keep Arlington wholesome and attractive, still retaining some reverence for Sunday.

LOOK UP, NOT DOWN.

Faithfully yours,

To the Editor of the
Arlington Advocate,
Dear Sir:

On Monday, March 7th, the people of Arlington will be permitted to decide as to whether or not they are in favor of "Sunday Movies." I hope it will be "YES."

The "Movies" have always been a form of relaxation to us all, and it seems a pity that people who work all week long and can only find time on Sunday to enjoy this pleasure are deprived of it.

Our very beautiful golf clubs are open on Sundays, as well as other days in the week; playing golf is a great form of recreation for those who can afford it,—but after all, is Arlington only interested in the wealthier members of the town and completely forgetting those of us who are not fortunate enough to belong to a Golf Club?

I furthermore feel that in forbidding Sunday Movies in Arlington, we are being deprived of the right to obtain a few hours of recreation; and that the opening of the theatres on Sunday does not compel anyone to attend them if they do not wish to do so. May I ask, are we not entitled to the liberty of choosing the method of spending our leisure time?

Very truly yours,
A SUBSCRIBER.

You'd Be Surprised!

In all the agitation about depression, I haven't seen one reference to the amount of money spent for tobacco. Many one has owned up to the tobacco bill would feed all the poor and more, too. Why not turn the tobacco bill toward sustenance and relieve distress? Smokers say smoking is a joy—well all vice may be pleasant in certain stages—but vice is vice. Why cling to it? Where does it lead a man or woman, up or down? We all know that the answer is that it is degrading.

Should hard-working people, non vice people be called on to help those who devote any of their small funds to vice and then call for food?

WELFARE.

DRASTIC CUT IN ASSESSMENTS NEEDED
Dear Mr. Editor:

I am one of many of your readers, the home and property owners, that are interested in your editorial of February 19 and the assessor's letter in rebuttal published on the 26th.

For the benefit of many of your subscribers and especially the present of prospective assessors will you please print in this column a copy in full of the municipal taxation laws and be sure to include the assessors' oath of office. If I am correctly informed, with few exceptions the inflated real estate values for assessments established in 1928-1929 have been retained for taxation purposes in 1930-31 in spite of the tremendous shrinkage in real values. This would indicate a disregard or a violation of the assessors' oath of office, for, if the tax value was right for 1928-29, the same was not right for 1930-31 and if they were correct values for 1930-31, they were certainly not the right values for 1928-29.

Every property owner of every variety realizes the recent drastic shrinkage in property values sustained by owners and Arlington real estate is no exception. If true values are to be established on real estate for assessment for 1932 a drastic cut must be made to comply with fact and law.

I hope to have something more to say on this subject in your next issue, if I may be allowed to occupy your valuable space.

Yours very truly,
A HOME OWNER.

Lack of space prevents printing the municipal taxation laws in full. The Assessors' Oath of Office for which our correspondent asks, is as follows: "I, having been chosen to assess taxes and estimate the value of property for the purpose of taxation for the town (or city) of for the year (or years) ensuing, do swear that I will truly and impartially, according to my best skill and judgment, assess and apportion all such taxes as I may during that time assess; that I will neither overvalue nor undervalue any property subject to taxation, and that I will faithfully perform all duties of said office. (Editor's note.)"

Margaret E. Miller of Linden street, and Barbara Lawson of Gray street are sailing from Boston to-morrow for a two weeks' Caribbean cruise, spending a few days in Jamaica, Panama and Havana.

To You Mr. and Mrs. Arlington
An Appeal For Liberty

On July 4th, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was adopted setting forth the unalienable rights of our citizens to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The time has now arrived when we, the citizens of Arlington must decide whether we are to follow in the footsteps of those patriots, or are to follow in the footsteps of dictators!

The history of the question of Sunday Movies in Arlington is one of constant agitation. We, the citizens of Arlington, have never been permitted to express our opinion on this question. We now have the opportunity to go to the polls on Monday and decide whether we are to enjoy the fruits of the victory for which our forefathers gladly laid down their lives, or if we are to continue to be deprived of that liberty which is the bulwark and backbone of the American people. Will we permit ourselves to dictate and control the lives of others, or will we allow our fellowmen the right to the "pursuit of happiness?"

In most every instance wherever this question has been voted upon, it has been decided in favor of Sunday Movies. There has been no instance of any town, once having had Sunday Movies, ever losing this right. Such communities as Newton, Cambridge, and Dedham which have Sunday Movies are still respected and law-abiding communities, and their homes and churches are still intact. There is not a single instance that can be pointed out where the permitting of Sunday Movies has hurt or despoiled one single home or church, but on the contrary it has been a great asset to the growth and development of those towns that have allowed Sunday Movies.

Voters of Arlington: Are we going to follow the torch-light of liberty or are we to continue to keep from our citizens the ordinary rights of a free individual? This is not only a question of Sunday Movies, but one of Liberty or Suppression!

obtain a $28.00 tax rate on a $63,000,000 valuation. How close they come to this will depend largely on the action of the assessors regarding the lowering of valuations and upon the action of the Town Meeting members relative to new street construction. The estimated tax rate will probably be announced next week.
No salary increases have been recommended except the automatic increases for the school teachers and the police and fire departments. The total of these automatic increases for the balance of the year is considerably less than $10,000.
Neither have salary decreases been recommended except in cases where adjustments should be made, in fact, in the opinion of the committee, should have been made years ago.

BAPTIST MEN TO HEAR JOURNALIST-CARTOONIST

Charles A. Wells, journalist and cartoonist, will speak at the meeting of the First Baptist Men's Class which will be held Sunday noon, Mr. Wells returned recently from Manchuria, where he covered the war news for American newspapers. His subject will be "Sparks from Shanghai". He will illustrate his lecture by drawing as he talks, thus giving double interest to his story. Mr. Wells spoke recently at Tremont Temple.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD DID NOT BUY SNOW PLOW

That the Board of Public Works did not buy a snow plow, is the statement made by Walter F. Robinson of the Board of Public Works and endorsed by F. Leo Dalton, chairman of the board. "They did vote to buy a sidewalk plow when it might be necessary so that in case of heavy snow the equipment could be gotten quickly, but no purchase order has been made out and not a cent of the town's money has been spent for this. The statement was in answer to that of John E. Mitchell at the Searchlight Club last week Thursday. Mr. Mitchell said that the Board had bought a plow after the season of heavy snowstorms was past.

MRS. RUGG WILL GIVE SPECIAL BOOK TALK

Mrs. Winnifred King Rugg gave a talk on "Poetry" in the last of the regular series of lectures on "New Books and Their Authors", which have been held in the vestry of the Orthodox Congregational Church under the sponsorship of Mrs. Warren Seavey's group. These lectures by Mrs. Rugg have been very interesting and those who attended the Wednesday meeting were glad to hear the announcement that Mrs. Rugg would give a special lecture on "Novels That Depict Family Life", on Friday, March 11, at 2.0 p. m. in the vestry of the Church for the benefit of the fund being raised by Mrs. Seavey's group. Following this lecture an informal discussion will be held, during which tea will be served.

MRS. MEAD AND MRS. RIPLEY GIVE LUNCHEON AND BRIDGE

Mrs. J. Herbert Mead and Mrs. Kate Ripley gave a luncheon and bridge Tuesday at the Mead home on Appleton street. The table, which was laid for fourteen, was charming with blue glass and a centerpiece of pink roses and heliotrope. The first prize was won by Mrs. Harold Ring, second by Mrs. Walter J. Vaughn and third by Mrs. Norval F. Bacon, while the consolation went to Mrs. Gruber of Cambridge.

WOMEN'S PATRIOTIC ORDERS PRESENT FLAGS TO SCHOOLS

The annual patriotic exercises of the allied patriotic women's organizations were held on Tuesday evening, February 23rd, at G. A. R. Hall, under the direction of the Patriotic Instructor, Mrs. Lila Russell, following the supper given by Women's Relief Corps 43.

Fred Waugh of Camp 45, accompanied the patriotic singing with his cornet and the well trained Junior High Centre orchestra furnished the music for the flag march. There were recitations by the pupils from the Cutter and Junior High West Schools.

Comrade Alfred H. Knowles on behalf of the organizations presented twenty-nine classroom flags to the pupils who represented the Arlington and Belmont schools. Little Ruth Page accepted those for the Russell School.

Gordon McLeod recited the Gettysburg Address. Miss Agnes Bailey and Martin Power also gave patriotic recitations. There were impressive addresses by the heads of the various organizations and their auxiliaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith sang some pleasing selections and Mrs. Smith also recited a poem composed by Comrade Stone. Miss Ruth Severance received much applause for her piano selections. Two small pupils from Miss O'Hara's dancing school danced the minuet in colonial costume.

The exercises closed with the salute to the flag and singing of America.

"CAESAR HAS A FEVER" TO BE TOWN'S FUNNIEST PLAY

The most laughable play produced in town, with one of the most notable groups of players assembled in one cast, and music by an orchestra selected and directed by Miss Grace Gordon Pfeiffer, form the combination announced by the Friends of the Drama for their regular mid-winter production, "Caesar Has a Fever," which will be presented in Robbins Memorial Town Hall next Thursday evening, March 10, for the benefit of the unemployed of the community. The entire net receipts will be appropriated to the unemployment committee. It is expected that the amount will be increased greatly by contributions from members of the Friends of the Drama.
"Caesar Has a Fever" was produced originally under another title with DeWolf Hopper in the leading role. Norval Bacon has this part in the Arlington production. Gracia Bacon Moody, making her first appearance as an actress in Arlington theatricals in many years, heads the feminine group, which includes Virginia Hunt, Dorothy Ryder and Christine Cartmell. Also in the cast are William F. Homer, Jr., Philip H. Burt, Parker Wood, Herbert Ellis, David R. Kennedy and Joseph G. Lufkin. Marjorie Manning is directing.

With the co-operation of the Arlington Woman's Club, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and other organizations, a large distribution of tickets has been accomplished. The advance sale of reserved seats continues on Monday with the public sale at the Thrift Shop, in the old Hutchinson store adjoining the Menotomy Trust Company. About two hundred excellent reservations are available for purchasers who have not taken advantage of earlier opportunities to obtain reserved seats. Nearly five hundred general admission tickets are also on sale.

TOWN GOVERNMENT CHANGE BILL HAS FIRST READING

The bill to change the government of Arlington was reported favorably to the house Wednesday afternoon and had its first reading then. In the morning a hearing was held on the bill, over which Representative Nelson J. Crosby presided. Attending it were Chairman Hollis M. Gott of the Board of Selectmen, Arthur P. Wyman and William O. Hauser, members of the Board, Town Counsel Paul White and the members of the committee that reported on the change in the town government. Frederick W. Hill, chairman; Judge John G. Brackett, Jacob Bitzer, Thomas J. Donnelly and Arthur J. Wellington.

The bill was thoroughly discussed for an hour. Mr. White, Judge Brackett and Mr. Bitzer answering the questions that were asked and speaking in favor of it.

RESTRAINING ORDER DID NOT STOP WORK

Work on the sewer and water main and surface drain project in the Arlington district was not stopped by an injunction, according to Town Engineer James Keane, but by the fact that all of the money appropriated was spent. It is true, as was stated by John E. Mitchell at the Searchlight Club meeting last week Thursday, that a restraining order has been placed on the surface drain by Mr. Morton, who lives on the Belmont side of Spring street. He contends that the surface drain, which runs over land which he owns, will contaminate the brook into which it drains.
According to Mr. Keane, proof must be brought by Mr. Morton that the brook is not a natural stream. It is shown, Mr. Keane says, as a natural stream on the plans of the engineering department and on Cambridge maps. However, Mr. Keane adds that if it is impossible to empty into this tract it will be easy to find another.

SECOND SET OF TWINS BORN TO MR. AND MRS. BELBIN

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Belbin of 10 Perth road on Sunday. They have been named Ralph and Marion. They are very healthy, says Dr. Ralph Wells, the attending physician. They have an older brother and sister, who are also twins, born October 5th, 1930, as well as four other sisters. Mr. Belbin's work has been cut to three days a week.

FIRST M. E. LADIES' AID HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Ladies Aid of the First M. E. Church held its annual supper and business meeting on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Parish House. On the supper committee were Mrs. E. A. Bean, Mrs. Ivan Smith, Mrs. Delia Spaulding and Mrs. W. P. Barthelmy.

After the supper, a business meeting was held and the officers for the coming year were elected: Mrs. E. A. Bean, president; Mrs. Mae Harding, vice-president; Mrs. W. P. Barthelmy, secretary; Mrs. Della Spaulding, treasurer; Mrs. Craig, representative to the Arlington Welfare Council; Mrs. Williams, the Morgan Memorial; Mrs. Robert Brown, the Italian Mission, and Mrs. William Fowler, the Deaconess Aid. The ladies are planning a stunt night for the last of March.

DEDICATION PROGRAM AT BRACKETT SCHOOL

Lincoln's Life," by the pupils of the Brackett School.
Addresses will be made by Earl A. Ryder, chairman of the Committee on School Accommodations; Jacob Bitzer, chairman of the Building Committee; Hollis M. Gott, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, and Mr. Stratton. There will be a formal presentation of the grand piano, the gift of Mrs. J. Q. A. Brackett, for whose husband, Governor Brackett, the school is named, and the flags for the Arlington Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday evening in Wyman's English Tavern. The applause which followed his remarks was probably more insistent and enthusiastic than has been awarded any other speaker at the Chamber.
The business of the meeting, with President Robert H. Patterson in the chair was quickly disposed of, allowing Mr. Carens the maximum of time. He used that time to crowd in a stream of fascinating anecdotes of his experiences with the "great and near great" in Washington. His talk abounded with wit, interesting personal stories and descriptions of various statesmen and politicians, and was couched in a brilliant and easy flow of language.

STATE EMPLOYEES SEND $200 TO UNEMPLOYMENT FUND

A check for $200 was received this week by Rev. John Nicol Mark, chairman of the Arlington Social Service Unemployment Fund Committee, from the State Employees Unemployment Relief Fund. The check was sent by Richard K. Conant, commissioner of public welfare.

Mr. Mark reports that pledges to the Arlington fund are slow in coming in and urges on citizens a realization of the urgency of the situation.

"SKI" DINEEN TO BROADCAST OVER WLEX TONIGHT

Those who listened to Francis "Ski" Dineen over Station WLEX last Friday will be glad to hear that this popular tenor will be back on the air again tonight, at 8.30 on the same station. Due to the eager response of the radio fans, the Lexington heads have decided to keep "Ski" on the air every week.

BOSTON WOMAN FOUND IN HUTCHINSON ROAD GUTTER

A Boston woman, Catherine Craft, was brought to the station last Friday night by Officer C. Scannell, aided by Austin Madden, 29 Wachuset avenue, who found her lying in a gutter on Hutchinson road, drunk. Dr. Webb was called to report on her condition and found that she had a broken nose, abrasions, several contusions and abrasions. She is charged with drunkenness.

SERGEANT PICK EVICTS SKUNKS WITH TEAR GAS GRENADE

A tear gas grenade used by Sergeant Pick last evening, to evict a family of skunks from their domicile under the office floor of the W. W. Schwab Co. on Mill lane, was fully equal to its mission. It not only sent the skunks flying but the office force found the tear gas worse than the skunks and they walked out.

LECTURE ON CONTRACT TO FOLLOW BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Much interest is being displayed in the Bridge luncheon and lecture on Russell's Rapid Contract Bridge, that will be held Tuesday afternoon at Wyman's English Tavern, 430 Massachusetts avenue. The management has arranged a special luncheon and program that will assure their guests a pleasant and interesting afternoon.

Mrs. Alma D. Small of Brookline, who has been in charge of the lectures at the Metropolitan Theatre, Boston, has been engaged to give the lecture Tuesday. Mrs. Mae Collier of Arlington will assist Mrs. Small and players wishing to try this new and fascinating method of contract bidding in the afternoon of bridge that will follow the lecture, will receive free instructions.

Carlton Russell, the author of Rapid Contract Bridge, has challenged Mr. James Magner, Jr., the leading New England representative of the Culbertson camp for a contest of systems. The Metropolitan Theatre and the Jordan Marsh Co., where Mr. Magner lectures, are trying to arrange to bring these two experts together, and the public are looking forward with interest to a contest that will bring out the comparative merits of both these systems.

CLOSING SERVICE OF THE "WEEK OF JOY" AT CALVARY

On Sunday night Dr. Bartlett will close his "Mission of Joy" at Calvary. M. E. church. His theme will be "The Joyous Friend." Dr. Bartlett will appear in the costume of the time of Christ, and speak as one who knew and loved the Lord. Gordon Bruce, speaking of this message, said:

"I waited with many other, expectantly and yet somewhat doubtfully. I was carried away into the past. I began to see Jesus as I had never seen Him before. I felt that I was seeing Him as John or Peter might have seen Him. It was an Oriental Christ, a Christ of a different time, with different customs, but One who did not die but who is born again to meet every human need of every child of God."
"I followed the story with breathless interest. When he told of the Last Supper I felt that I had never realized its beauty and tenderness before. When he described the Last Breakfast I found a new thrill of happiness, for before I had neglected that incident of the narrative. He made Christ live for me as He never has before. He made my discipleship real. May you have the joy of hearing this unique story of Jesus."

GOTT TO BROADCAST OVER WLEY SATURDAY

Hollis M. Gott, chairman of the Selectmen, will broadcast over WLEY in Lexington at half past seven Sunday evening. This is the first time, his backers believe, that the radio has been used in a town political campaign. Mr. Gott, who is a candidate for re-election, will speak for ten minutes, promoting his own campaign. When he has finished Mrs. Therese N. Turner will speak on behalf of the Citizens' Committee candidates for the School Committee.
Friends of Mr. Gott and Mrs. Turner, as well as those who are interested in the success of the Citizens' Committee slate, are planning radio parties to listen to the broadcast.

WEBOWET ROAD BABY LOOKS LIKE LINDBERGH'S

Apparently the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilbert of 72 Webowet road looks like the Lindbergh baby. A man reported to the Chelsea police that he saw a car coming through Worcester yesterday afternoon with two men in the rear seat with a baby he was sure was Lindbergh's. He got the number and the car was traced to Mr. Gilbert—but the baby was Mr. Gilbert's too.

CARENS TELLS CHAMBER ANECDOTES OF POLITICIANS

Thomas H. Carens, born in Arlington and a resident here for many years, now assistant to the president of the New England Power Association, was the speaker at the monthly dinner of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday evening in Wyman's English Tavern. The applause which followed his remarks was probably more insistent and enthusiastic than has been awarded any other speaker at the Chamber.
The business of the meeting, with President Robert H. Patterson in the chair was quickly disposed of, allowing Mr. Carens the maximum of time. He used that time to crowd in a stream of fascinating anecdotes of his experiences with the "great and near great" in Washington. His talk abounded with wit, interesting personal stories and descriptions of various statesmen and politicians, and was couched in a brilliant and easy flow of language.

Four new members were voted in. They were John D. O'Leary, Otto V. Rose, Arthur H. Ring and Walter S. Barker. Secretary Maurice Hatch and Treasurer Nelson Bower made reports. Anna B. Callahan announced that the commercial division would dispense with its regular meeting this month. L. E. A. Smith, Hiram W. Colton and Charles H. Higgins were appointed a nominating committee to submit a slate for next year. Arthur Birch kicked up a little sea by asking various questions, but this finally subsided.

Franklin P. Hawkes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on the George Washington Bicentenary, told some of the plans of other organizations, including the D. A. R., and suggested that if there were no objections the Chamber would join with the Woman's Club in erecting a life community Christmas tree on the lawn before Robbins Memorial Library.

The company stood a moment in silence in veneration of the memory of the late Charles D. Redmond.
Before calling upon the speaker of the evening President Patterson introduced George Carens, resident of Arlington and sports editor of the Boston Transcript, who was present to hear his brother talk.

Before becoming associated with the New England Power Association in 1920 Thomas H. Carens had been for nineteen years a member of the staff of the Boston Herald. During this time he had specialized in political writing, serving for some years as State House reporter and later as Washington correspondent. In his remarks he told many interesting anecdotes of the various political celebrities he had met during these years.

The frankest politician he ever met, Mr. Carens said, was former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York. The speaker told a number of incidents which occurred during the 1928 presidential campaign. Very often, he said, Governor Smith was asked to express an opinion on some political issue of great local importance. The ordinary candidate would probably have expressed himself with an extensive use of platitudes, but Governor Smith's invariable reply to a newspaper man on such an occasion was, "Son, I don't know a darn thing about it."

CHARRON STUDIO PUPILS GIVE MID-TERM RECITAL

The pupils of Irene Marie Charron of the Charron Studio of Dancing and Elocution at 661 Massachusetts avenue gave their mid-term recital last week Thursday evening at Junior High School East. The proceeds of the sale of tickets went to the relief of the unemployed.
A feature of the evening was Buddy Leonard, "Our mascot," who is only two and a half years old. Buddy has been named by Ripley of "Believe It or Not" fame as the wonder baby of New England because of his remarkable memory. He can name all the presidents and vice-presidents, the states and their capitals. At the age of two he could recite a seventy-five line poem. Another feature was the dance of a group of children on each of whose costumes was a letter. In the formations the name of the studio was spelled.

Those who took part, besides Buddy, were Grace McCarthy, Marjorie McLean, Jean Bruno, Sally Wilder Saville, Ruth Preston, Arthur Brodie, Arthur Bullock, Andrew Forbes, Marie Denish, Giovanna Janina, Beatrice Bruno, Lilla Brodie, Theresa Laurie, Phyllis McGonagle, Anna Comerford, Betty and Shirley Thompson, Margaret Shatterly, Frances Riley, Shirley Knox, Dorothy Field, Shirley Rush, Gertrude Peavey, Virginia Heffernan, Anne Lois Steinhoff, Emma Comerford, Betty Jane Ulen, Joseph Tell, Jr., Marie McCarthy, Jessie Clark, Barbara James, Bettine Jones, Vida Moore, Dorothy Mead, Rita Groux, Ruth Launie, Mildred Holmes, Ruth McLean, Iris Fitzgerald, Mary Preston, Florence and Elaine Evans and Louise Serventi. Mrs. L. Brodie acted as pianist.

Miss Charron is introducing a new feature in her studio work, giving every child actual radio experience. The studio has a broadcast each week over Station WBSO.

GARDEN ENTHUSIASTS ATTEND WALTHAM SCHOOL

A large group of garden enthusiasts, many of them members of the Garden Club, went from Arlington Wednesday morning to the Waltham Field Station at the Rookery, Cedar Hill, Waltham, where the first session of a Garden School was held. They heard a most interesting and valuable talk by Arnold Davis on "Planning the Garden," in which he discussed formal and informal gardens. Mr. Davis said that the whole yard should be viewed as the garden, the front yard expressing dignity and hospitality, while the back might be more informal.

The school will continue next week with a talk on "Soil" by Ray Koon; on March 16, Paul Dempsey will talk on "Growing Plants"; on March 23, Clark Thayer on "Perennials"; March 30, Harold White on "Annuals"; April 6, Allen Hixon on "Flower Arrangement." The course, which is being arranged by Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter of 100 Bartlett avenue, chairman of conservation for the State Federation of Women's Clubs, is open to all members of women's clubs.

PLEASANT DANCING PARTY AT WYMAN'S ENGLISH TAVERN

Last Friday evening a dancing party was held at Wyman's English Tavern and was attended by nearly one hundred persons. Mrs. A. Bowman was chairman of the committee, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ray, of Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tucker, Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett and Mrs. Gertrude Fraser. The evening was an enjoyable one. Many varied dancing numbers were arranged and prizes were given for the elimination waltz. The music was furnished by Waldron's Orchestra.

DRIVES BORROWED CAR INTO SAFETY ZONE PROTECTORS

Francis Spring, Jr. of Dorchester came to grief just after midnight Sunday, when the borrowed car he was driving struck safety zone protectors at the Soldiers' Monument. Officer O'Brien arrested him for operating while under the influence of liquor and for going away after causing damage to town property. The car which was put up at a garage was the property of Thomas Gregory of New Bedford.

POLICE CHIEF'S ASSOCIATION LUNCHEON AT WYMAN TAVERN

The Association of Police Chiefs, of which Superintendent Crowley of Boston is president, met and lunched at Wyman's English Tavern yesterday noon. The forty-eight chiefs who were present were welcomed by Chairman Hollis M. Gott of the Board of Selectmen who said it gave him pleasure to extend to them the greetings "of this law-abiding community."
Chief Joseph A. Gerk of St. Louis, Mo., sponsor for the federal bill now in Congress to make kidnapping a federal offense and punishable by life imprisonment or death, told some of his experiences with kidnappers. He also said that he could not say enough in favor of the police radio. One criminal he arrested said it was impossible to ply his trade successfully on account of the "damn police radio."

HEN PHEASANT KILLED ON JASON STREET BY AUTO

Officer Cahalin is the proud possessor of a stuffed hen pheasant which was killed Sunday afternoon, to the complete satisfaction of game warden Goodwin. Officer Picott found the bird, a fine specimen, at 72 Jason street and brought it to the station. The garden was called and concluded that it met its death from a passing automobile. Officer Picott generously handed it over to Officer Cahalin, who agreed to have it stuffed.

RETURN FROM CALIFORNIA TO WARREN STREET HOME

Miss Marie Rasmussen and her grandmother, Mrs. H. Syda, both of Warren street, returned home last Sunday morning from their four months' trip to California. On their return from the coast, they stopped off a week to visit Miss Rasmussen's parents and relatives in Wisconsin. Many of their friends and relatives visited them on the evening of their return. They had a wonderful trip, but were glad to greet their home friends again.

TOWN TOPICS

The Women's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church will meet Monday, March 7, at 2.30 in the parish house. Mrs. Frank L. Newcomb and Mrs. Seymour Waterfall will serve tea.
Chief Archibald F. Bullock has "commended Sergeant Ryan for his work in securing information from William Miller in the recovery of a quantity of stolen property."

Funeral services for Donald G. Olson, the five-year-old son of Gordon L. and Gladys Darling Olson, were held yesterday afternoon at the family home, 85 Columbia road. The little boy died on Monday.

St. Malachi Court of Foresters will hold an Irish night on Thursday, March 10, in connection with their meeting. The chairman of the committee in charge is John Sullivan, chief raider.

Leo Dalton, candidate for re-election to the Board of Public Works, of which he is at present chairman, will broadcast over WNAE at 6.15 Sunday evening. He will tell his qualifications for the office he seeks.

Citizens' Committee candidates spoke at a rally held at the Peirce School on Wednesday evening. Max Roberts led the community singing. Walter N. Stevenson acted as temporary chairman and Jacob Bitzer as chairman of the evening. There were duet solos by Edgar Randall and piano solos by Miss Winona Stevenson.

Eric Alton Ayre will lecture Sunday evening, March 13th, at 7.00 p. m. in the First Parish church on the Passion Play by Oberammergau. Illustrating his talk with exquisitely colored slides, Mr. Ayre was the guest of Anton Lang in Oberammergau. The lecture is open to the public.

Benjamin Eldins, Jr. of 30 Kilsyth road became a Masonic member of the National Cathedral Association which through its annual membership offerings is helping to construct and maintain Washington Cathedral on the heights of Mt. St. Alban, above the National Capitol.

The use of air rifles in the town is prohibited. However, two complaints were registered this week of B. B. shot, presumably shot from an air rifle, breaking glass. One complaint was from the owner of the house at 30 Jason street, where a window was broken. The other was the breaking of the large glass front of the sign at the Orthodox Congregational church.

The Poppy Club held its first March meeting Tuesday evening, March 1, at the home of Mrs. Emma Bowley, 18 Thorndike street, West Somerville. The regular business meeting was held, at which plans were made for a Food Sale March 5, at Parke Snow's store, at Davis Square, Somerville. At the close refreshments were served.

A very successful whist party was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Minnie Barry on Broadway. Eight tables of whist were played. All enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon and refreshments were served. The proceeds are to go to the Francis Gould Post, Women's Relief Corps, No. 43.

Emily Hickey of Linden street suffered a painful accident last Sunday in Hillsboro, N. H. She had gone up the snow train and was participating in the sports when she was hit by a toboggan in full career. As it happened, there was a doctor on the spot and he strapped her shattered leg to a ski. Subsequent X-rays showed that the bone was badly crushed and broken.

The Wacos lost first place in the Arlington Council, K. of C. bowling league last week Thursday evening when the Associates took three points from them. The Pale, in spite of losing three points to the Fillers, went to the head. The Old Timers won all four points from the Fuses. Frank Bradley of the Old Timers held both the high single, 132, and high three string, 311.

The town stableman is called upon to pick up and dispose of dead cats and dogs, occasionally a skunk, and frequently broken windshield glass from the highways. Last Friday afternoon, added variety was given to his work: a case of eggs which evidently had fallen from a truck not only required picking up but cleaning up.

MARRIAGES

WALTHER-BERGOTH
John C. Walther of 241 Cedar avenue and Mrs. Ina Lulu Bergoth of 181 Cedar avenue, the daughter of Mr. Urquhart of Dorchester, were married last Saturday evening at Mr. Walther's home. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Karl Johansson of Belmont. A Norberg of Woburn acted as best man and Mrs. James T. Beckwith of Wollaston as bridesmaid.

HORATIO A. PHINNEY

ZONTA HAS PARTY FOR ITS FIRST BIRTHDAY

Wyman's English Tavern Scene of Delightful Affair.
Rev. John N. Mark, the Speaker of the Evening.

Elect Lester Barrett Worcester Ice Captain

Lester F. Barrett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Barrett of 16 Cleveland street has been elected honorary captain of the Worcester Academy hockey team, on which he was the leading scorer during the past season. He was also one of ten to whom the Academy Athletic Association voted a hockey letter.

Barrett, who was captain of the High School baseball team last year, is expected to be one of the leading contenders for the keystone sack on the Academy baseball team this spring.

The Arlington Zonta Club celebrated its first birthday last week Thursday evening with a dinner at Wyman's English Tavern. The tavern was charmingly decorated for the occasion in red, white and blue. The flowers, which graced each of the tables, were in these colors and at each place was a favor, the historic cherry tree with the hatchet which cut it down. An open fire added its bit to the cheerfulness of the occasion.

At the head table with Mrs. Nita Moses, president of the organization, were Robert H. Patterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Ernest Moore, president of the Rotary;

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS ENTERTAIN AT BRIDGE

Miss Margaret Bailey and Miss Elizabeth Low entertained at a bridge party last week Tuesday, given at the home of Miss Bailey, 21 Appleton place. Among the guests were the Misses Marion Anderson, Mildred Anderson, Vera Bond, June Brackett, Ruth Carlton, Betty Hill, Joan Marsh, Mary Murphy, Natalie Pelrice, Ruth Rowland, Miriam Shedd, Adelaide Smart, Mary Turner, Jeannette Yeames. First prize was won by Adelaide Smart; second, by Joan Murphy; consolation prize, by Mary Murphy. After the bridge a very delightful luncheon was served by the hostesses.

BILL MCCARTY MAKES THREE FIRSTS IN DAY

Bill McCarty, former high school track star, and son of "Doc" McCarty, high school track coach, has broken into collegiate track circles, with a bang. Last Saturday, Bill, running for Harvard freshmen, copied two first places in a dual meet at Andover Academy.

He took first in the forty-yard dash and running broad jump. That night, he carried the colors of Harvard through to another victory, in the Freshmen fifty-yard dash of the annual Harvard-Cornell-Dartmouth Tri-meet.

Incidentally, the former red and gray captain tied the meet record of 5.35 seconds. Saturday was Bill's first day in collegiate competition, so he should be heard from frequently.

MANY ENJOY ATHLETIC NIGHT AT OLD TOWN HALL

The Old Town Hall was filled last week Thursday night for the Athletic Night and Smoker held under the auspices of the Arlington Civic Committee. The master of ceremonies was George "Bulger" Lowe, former Lafayette football star. The radio and night club presentation was arranged by John F. Brennan, candidate for School Committee on the civic committee slate.

Stories of their experiences in the athletic field were told by Eddie Casey, head football coach at Harvard; Charlie Comerford, end coach of Yale's varsity football squad; "Swede" Nelson, Harvard backfield coach; Joe McKenney, football coach at Boston College, and Dan Kelley, newly appointed State boxing commissioner.

There was also an entertaining program by many of the best known of the radio and night club performers. Mrs. May Lynch accompanied her niece, Miss Barbara Tole of Stoneham, in a tap dance.

—Miss Irma Cross of Lowell street has accepted a position at Pierson's Annex.

—Miss Flora Burgess of 3 Crescent Hill avenue is confined to her home with a badly sprained ankle.

—Lola Craig of Montague street was among the large number on the snow train to Hillsboro, N. H. last Sunday.

—Kenneth S. Turner of Westmoreland avenue spent part of last week with his mother, Mrs. Emma Turner of Roxbury.

—Mrs. Herbert Fuller of Worcester was the weekend guest of her cousin, Mrs. John Woodend of Westminster avenue.

—Rev. John Nicol Mark of the First Parish was the speaker at the Woburn Rotary Club luncheon at Towanda Club, Woburn, on Tuesday.

CANDIDATES SPEAK AT SEARCHLIGHT OPEN MEETING

Tell Qualifications to Interested Group of Citizens.

A large group of citizens took advantage of the opportunity offered by the Searchlight Club last week Thursday evening and went to the Robbins Memorial Town Hall to an open meeting of that organization, at which the candidates to the various town offices had been invited to speak. The candidates, each of whom was allowed five minutes to give his views, were introduced by Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, president of the club.

Candidates for Selectman Leonard Collins, who is candidate for selectman said that last year he held that office for one week and during that time came in close contact with Arthur Wyman, one of the present members of the Board, whom he characterizes as a "fine fellow and a good sport."

Mr. Collins went on to say that one argument he heard against himself was, "Leonard Collins is a fine fellow. I like him, but I don't like his gang." He then denied that he had any "gang" and added that last year 5,200 people voted for him; they are his friends. He was born in Arlington thirty-five years ago. His family has lived here for 105 years. Thus, he has many friends and has the interests of the town at heart. At present he is registrar of voters. In conclusion he said that he felt he was worthy and competent to receive the support of the citizens.

The next speaker was Hollis M. Gott, candidate for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. In 1922 Mr. Gott said, he was elected to the Finance Committee for three years; for the past six years he has been selectman. He is backed by men of integrity in the community, who are not, however, looking for political plums. He stated that he made no

ARLINGTON MEN GET HONORS FROM SCOUTS

Two Arlington men received honors at the exercises, last Saturday evening in Cary Memorial Town Hall, Lexington, which marked the close of the annual exhibit of Sadmeh Council of Boy Scouts. Robert P. Trask, the president of the Council, presented to Harold L. Frost of Brantwood road the Silver Beaver for distinguished service, which was awarded to him at the annual meeting. Mr. Frost was president of the Council from 1925 to 1929.

Dr. Franklin P. Hawkes, chairman of the Court of Honor, presented to Scoutmaster Guy E. Jones of Troop Two the Scoutmaster's Key for meritorious service, covering continuous work and loyalty since 1925 first as troop committeeman and, since August, 1926, as scoutmaster.

At the Friday evening Court of Honor a Star Badge was awarded to Joseph Ahern of Troop 7 and Life Badges to Richard Brainard, 8; Jack Hoffman, 5, and Gordon Anderson, 10.

The exhibit, which opened Friday afternoon, was visited by a large number of Arlington people who thoroughly enjoyed the vivid picture of scouting that was given by the various booths and demonstrations. Particularly interesting was the construction of a signal tower on the floor of the hall by Troop Five boys who, under the direction of their scoutmaster, Peter Jerardi, handled skillfully the logs and the ropes which bound them together.

The stage was set with trees to simulate a forest glade. Here Troop Seven, under Scoutmaster Harold Publicover, made camp. Troop Six, scoutmaster, Walter Taft, built a lean-to and Troop Ten, scoutmaster, Philip Alsen, made a campfire. Downstairs in Estabrook Hall, six boys of Troop Ten went through the badge ceremony and Troop Eight boys put on a patrol meeting, with Rollin Steele as patrol leader. Troop Eight, scoutmaster, King Rugg, and Eighteen, scoutmaster, George Langton, demonstrated the use of bandages and blankets and life saving.

Track Team Makes Nine Points in State Meet

Doc McCarty's indoor track team showed up to its best advantage last Saturday afternoon, at the State meet held in the Boston Garden, and garnered nine points, to come out fifth best in Class B.

Husky Crovo, all around athlete of Arlington High, won first place in the 12-pound shot, with a heave of 45 ft., 4 1/2 in., to ring up five points towards the red and gray total. Two more points came in the same event, when Walter Gearin shoved the iron ball out 40 ft., 4 1/2 in., to take a third.

The red and gray relay team of Phinney, Higgins, Shaw and Foster, matched strides with Worcester Classical and Watertown High, to nip a second place for the rest of the Arlington total.

Everett High dethroned the Water-town tracksters for the State Class B indoor track crown.

TOTAL OF FEBRUARY BUILDING IS $14,960

The total value of the building permits issued during February from the office of Inspector Gratto was only $14,960. They were for 2 one-family dwellings, $10,000; 3 garages, $1,500; one addition, $2,955; one alteration of two stores into one, $100; one piazza roof, $75; demolish one-family house, $300. There were fifteen plumbing and thirty gas permits.

During the last week of the month permits were issued to J. McLean, 31 Thorndike street for a garage, $600, and to Einar A. Knudsen, 44-46 Dorchester road, garage, $400.

—John Gruber of Wachusett avenue has been chosen as assistant editor of the Neume, the Year Book of the Senior Class of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Craftsmen at Work, the Community festival arranged by the Art Committee of the Woman's Club, brought to Robbins Memorial Town Hall Monday afternoon and evening a crowd of people. The atmosphere was that of an old time country fair. Everybody was having a fine time, greeting old friends, whom they had not seen for some time, and looking around to see what their neighbors had on exhibit.

In the afternoon the children, especially, enjoyed themselves, for not only did the marionettes of Russell Newcomb, Junior High East boy, dance and posture on their miniature stage, but the Junior High West orchestra, directed by Miss Mildred Emerson, played, and the prizes for the best poem, story and essay were awarded.

Prize Winners
Dorice Fitch was the winner of the two dollar and a half gold piece offered by the Arlington Woman's Club for the best poem by a Junior High East pupil. The gold piece was presented by Mrs. Hawkes and Miss Fitch read her poem, as follows:

LIFE
Life is just a wondrous stage
Where each man plays a part.
Some actors use just head and hand,
And some use soul and heart.
Of all these players we have heard,
And read, and seen, and known;
You'll find these different characters
In nearly every home.

The part that fits the man the best
Is what he tries to be.
Some like to play the martyr's part,
And some choose chivalry.
But if you play at life's game square,
You'll find that it will be
God's living image here on earth
Brought out in you and me.

Honorable mention was given to Helen Duffy and Edna Dennen.
A two dollar and a half gold piece was presented by Mrs. Stephen Merrill for the Kensington Park Study

RE-ELECT F. LEO DALTON

Board of Public Works

A Vote for Dalton is a Vote for Experience—Not Experiment!

The Present is no time for a change.

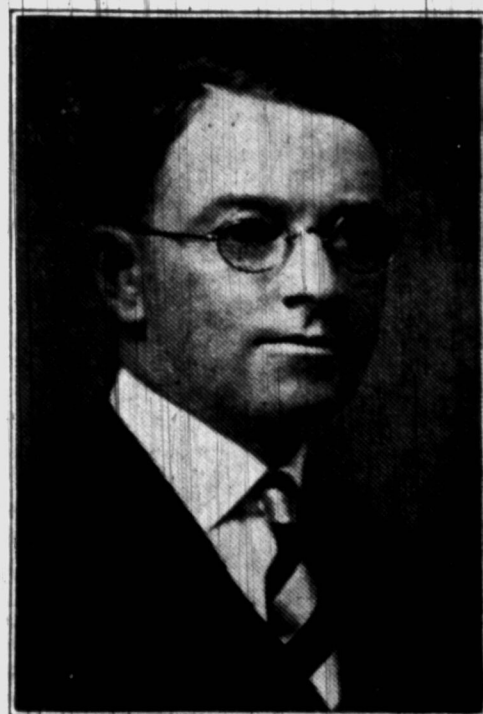

Above all, our Town needs experienced men at this hour.

Continue in office a man of experience — one who has an intimate knowledge of Town Affairs.

Continue in office one who has worked in harmony with the Selectmen in the Joint Board, for the best interests of Arlington.

Elected three years ago on a platform of Experience the even more intimate experience of the last three years makes his services of greater value than ever.

Remember too — Mr. Dalton owns his business in Arlington — but a step or two from the Town Hall — and so is accessible at all hours of the day and night — keeping in closest contact with Town Affairs.

Mr. Dalton is a World War Veteran — Chairman of the Permanent Town Yard Committee — a member of the present Unemployment Committee — affiliated with many Civic and Fraternal organizations.

Mr. Dalton has been a resident of Arlington, 33 years —

Note this Practical Experience!

12 years' experience in Construction Work.

5 years an employee of the Board of Public Works.

3 years a member of the Board.

1 year — and at present — Chairman of the Board.

One good term deserves another —

EXPERIENCE COUNTS IN TOWN AFFAIRS — AS IN BUSINESS

COMMUNITY FESTIVAL DRAWS CROWD TO TOWN HALL

Club to Rebecca Kittredge, whose story was judged the best written by the pupils of the ninth grade of Junior High Centre. Honorable mention went to Robert Hillard and Barbara Smith.

Phyllis Cowdrey was the winner of the prize offered by the Arlington Heights Study Club for the best essay written by an eighth grade pupil of Junior High West. The club president, Mrs. George B. Otley, presented it to her.

The evening program included music by the Girl Scout Drum and Bugle Corps, songs by the Arlington Singers, and by the High School Chorus under the direction of Miss Grace Gordon Pierce. The High School Orchestra played under the direction of Hassler Elzing and Mary Stokes and Russell Curry gave an exhibition dance, for which Mrs. H. H. Stinson played the accompaniment. Howard Dawes of the Friends of the Drama gave an interesting talk on "How to Stage a Play". Mr. Dawes talked while his three assistants, McKenna, Hagh, Prescott, Boston and Hal Lazar, set up the scene. He concluded with a convincing demonstration of the way thunder, lightning and rain were made on the stage.

Sculptor at Work Attracts Crowd
Cyrus E. Dallin, who had set up an easel on which he worked in modelling clay on the "Boston Art Club Medal," was surrounded by an attentive crowd, whose questions he willingly answered. Apparently Arlington people who know and love their own Indian, "Menotomy," as well as "The Appeal to the Great Spirit," were anxious to learn just how it is done.

There was a crowd, too, about the high school pupils who were working at various art projects under the direction of the school art supervisor, Mrs. Marion I. Ford. Some of them were making posters, others coloring designs for cretonne and wall paper. One boy, Emory Battis, was at work on a pencil sketch of the Old State House, and another, Homer Gammons, on a charming picture of a bridge overhung by trees. Thelton Perry was etching a tree on a copper plate.

Among the other young people who were demonstrating their artistic ability, were John McKenna, Robert Grady, Paul Garipis, Anne Kennedy, Audrey Lester, Barbara Llewellyn, Clara Gutzman, Jacqueline Burr, Lester Crosby, Beatrice Wilson, Isabel Jenks, Betty Hills, Kenneth O'Neil, Charles Giles, John Easton, Margaret Robinson, W. W. Giles, Robert Graefias and Dorcas O'Neil.

In one of the corridors was hung an exhibit which showed the excellent work that is being done in the art department of the schools. Noticeable among the many attractive pictures was a group of trees, one of silhouettes and several designs for wall paper, a particularly striking one being of brightly colored colonial figures.

Members of the industrial classes, under the direction of Miss Mary A. Curtin, exhibited their craft, weaving on a rug loom, on table looms, copying a detail from an Oriental rug, making book ends of linoleum and decorating a box.

Mrs. Clinton Schwamb, Mrs. F. W. Garrett and Mrs. George A. Clark hooked rugs in a corner which was hung with the beautiful rugs the Hookers, of which they are members, have already made. The Arlington Forge showed some attractive wrought iron and bronze plant stands.

In another corner was an exhibit of china, painted by Mrs. Lewis Stickney and her pupils. Particularly lovely was a bowl in platinum and pewter, for which Mrs. Stickney invented the process. Other exhibitors were Mrs. J. H. Kernan, Mrs. Charles A. Rideout, Mrs. Gordon Northrup, Mrs. J. R. Hartman, and Miss M. A. Burke.

A Flower for Everyone
Another popular corner was that occupied by G. O. Anderson & Sons. Here was a big bowl filled with jonquills for ornament, while there were also quantities of red roses and carnations, one of which Miss Anderson gave to everyone who stopped to admire them.

Two ten-year-old youngsters, Charles Poole and William Burt, melted lead and poured it into molds to make lead soldiers. They also demonstrated the dyeing under the direction of Mrs. Irving Poole.

The Robbins Library had a table attractively decorated in black and gold with jonquills in a black bowl. Here were charts showing the increasing circulation of the library, the branches and the other places in town to which books are distributed and the Junior Library activities. Books for children and parents, a stamp collection and a book on stamps were also displayed here.

Mrs. Charles H. Doty exhibited among other things some attractive lamp shades and showed how she painted them while Mrs. Lester Collins knotted raffia over jars which had been brightly colored by dipping. Mrs. Leroy Shaw carved soap, shellacked and painted her finished work. Here were shown some of the flowers that had been carved and colored by the Girl Scouts of Mrs. Shaw's nature class. There were suggestions also of ways in which soap carving could be used in Sunday school and classroom projects.

Mrs. Louise MacKusick worked in leather and showed some of her finished work which was especially attractive. Miss Irwin and Miss Burgess were in charge of the work by the blind. The Middlesex County Extension also had a display which included some pretty children's clothes.

A group of boys from Troop 1 of the Boy Scouts, Emory Battis, Floyd Battis and Arthur Miller, demonstrated make-up on one of their number, and showed also a miniature stage which they had built. A group of Girl Scouts made shoes.

The Americanization exhibit, directed by Miss Schaefer, contained samples of the work in English done in school and some exquisite embroidery, darned lace, drawn work and other crafts made at home by members of the class. Mrs. Charles Shedd cut silhouettes, making one of Mrs. Hawkes in the afternoon. Among those she exhibited the pictures of Mr. Dallin and Miss Edith Winn could be recognized. Mrs. Herbert Stephens made linoleum wood blocks, printed from them on her hand press and explained the process of printing in colors. Mrs. C. F. L. Morton cut out jig saw puzzles. Mrs. R. W. Curtis showed a beautiful flower garden applique quilt while Mrs. George Chickering was at work on one which will contain 7250 pieces.

An Important Tree

Mrs. Roscoe Perry had set up for the Arlington Welfare Council a unique exhibit. It was a tree, the trunk and branches dangled man, fruits, such as food, clothes and rent, the most significant, however, being the 175 families, representing 717 people, which are still open cases. On the tree shone the sun of "co-operation." The work of the South Middlesex Health Camp and the layettes made by the home economics classes of the High School were also shown. Robert H. Zwicker presided over a display of bird houses he had made, one of which was a replica of his own home. Here orders were taken for the Welfare Thrift Shop.

Presiding over the Visiting Nursing Association table were Mrs. Bertha S. Burke, nutritionist of the association, and Miss Mary Spalding, consultant in nutrition for the state department of health. Exhibits showed the proper diet for babies of nine months, one year, three and four years, and for adults. Pamphlets were distributed which give valuable information, not only on the proper diet but on the way to get necessary foods at low cost.

A guest of honor during the afternoon was Mrs. Baker, art chairman for the State Federation. Mrs. Robert Parmenter heads the local art committee. Her assistants were Mrs. Edward A. Birch, Mrs. Nelson Bowser, Mrs. Lester Collins, Mrs. Edmund F. Fuller, Mrs. W. Elliot Habn, Mrs. Frederick O. Johnson, Mrs. Mabel H. Oaks, Mrs. Charles L. Shedd, Mrs. Irving Poole and Miss Esther Wyman.

MANY HEAR CANDIDATES AT SEARCHLIGHT OPEN MEETING

premises; his platform is the service that he has been giving.

For the Planning Board

Carolyn B. Reed, who has been a member of the Planning Board for seven years, and is now a candidate for re-election, said that according to Boston a Planning Board should be composed of business men, engineers, etc., and a woman. She is that woman. Contrary to general belief, she continued, the Board has teeth, when good plans are passed by the Town Meeting members.

Mrs. Reed expressed her respect for Lester Collins, who, she said, had been a worker and that it was her honor to be associated with him. His service had been invaluable. Her hope of election she based on the feeling that she could serve well and add to the Board's work.

Mr. Collins, who is also a candidate for re-election to the Planning Board, remarked that Mrs. Reed had said all the nice things about him that he had intended to say himself. "Planning Boards," he continued, "are being experimented with all over the state. It is the duty of these Boards to look ten and twenty years ahead, always planning for the future. I believe the essence of good service is a long term, so that the plans of the Board can be given time to work out. I have served on the Board these last three years."

Michael J. Dugan, who is candidate for Park Commissioner, said in part, "I have been asked to run by hundreds of voters. I have only the highest respect for the present commission. I do feel however that a change in the personnel will be of benefit to the town."

Earl A. Ryder

Earl A. Ryder, candidate for re-election to the Board of Assessors, said, "I am a candidate for re-election. I was born in Canada, but have been a citizen of the United States for thirty years, living in Arlington for the past twenty-seven. I have been a Town Meeting member since that form of government was established. I have been an employee of the Boston Elevated Railway for thirty-two years. For the past six years my job has been in the real estate department, buying and selling over $3,000,000 worth of real estate a year."

"The Arlington Board now assesses about $2,500,000 a year. This is an important job. This year we must expect less from the auto tax, yet we must pay the county more."

There is a tough job ahead to lower values. A competent man is necessary.

Injunction on $30,000 Job

"At the present time," said John E. Mitchell, candidate for election to the Board of Public Works, "There is a $30,000 job in the Arlington section which is held up by an injunction." This should have been better planned, Mr. Mitchell thought, though he said that Arlington has a fairly good board. He also questioned the advisability of the purchase of a snow plow on February 15 after the severe snow storm season was past.

Mr. Mitchell described himself as a graduate of Boston College, who saw eighteen months' service overseas and is now connected with a company that finances homes so that he comes in close contact with the boards of public works of many towns and cities.

In conclusion he said that above all, the town should have someone on the Board who will stand up in Town Meeting and tell the members how they should vote and why.

Cemetery Commission

Harold L. Frost, candidate for the Cemetery Commission, said in part, "I have been connected with Arlington business all my life. The cemetery has really become a large project. I shall put the same endeavor into this that I do into my own business."

Two Public Works Candidates

Endorsed by the Arlington Citizens' Committee, a graduation from Dartmouth and Mr. L. T. and his present business are in Ralph Adams' belief, excellent qualifications for the Board of Public Works. Mr. Adams' first job was with New York Central, laying track and making estimates. The firm with which he is now connected constructed the toll bridge at Lake Champlain. The estimates for which Mr. Adams made. He also has had charge of many surveys of town water supplies, of bridges, and traffic problems.

"I have directed the expenditure of many millions of dollars as well as engineering my experience has been wide. Twenty years ago my father served on the Board. We feel that he did a good job and I would like the opportunity to do likewise."

Leo Dalton presented very strong arguments for feeling he is worthy of re-election to the Board of Public Works. Nine years were spent as an employee of the Board. He has just completed his three-year term. The last year as chairman of the Board. In 1931, $774,000 was spent by the department. This, he feels, a man of experience such as his is absolutely essential. "This past year has been particularly hard. I have put constant effort, day and night, into my public duty." To aid the unemployment situation, Mr. Dalton pointed to the fact that 800 men have been on the pay-roll, of course many on part time, as compared with the usual figure of 350 men. In conclusion he said, "I have sought no endorsements this year. I was elected without them, thus I have no ties, and I have had no ties."

For the Board of Assessors

Candidate for the Board of Assessors, Harry P. Hopkins, explained that he was fully qualified for election. He has been in the real estate and insurance business in Arlington for thirteen years. "I know the values of property in Arlington. In fact, the Assessors have appealed to me on several occasions for information."

Candidates for School Committee

The first speaker running for School Committee was Mrs. Norine Casey. She is a graduate of the Boston Normal School. After graduation, eight years were spent teaching in all grades in Boston. During this time she was in a position to see many methods succeed and fail under trial. She has four children in the Arlington schools at the present time. "I am both a teacher and a mother," she said. "The matter of health, in my estimation, is of utmost importance. Poor posture is the cause of much trouble. Both Boston and Brookline have done much in this regard, also in methods to conserve the eyesight. During the recent scarlet fever epidemic Mrs. Casey saw several confinement specialists and with this information drew up a petition for remedial measures and presented it to the School Committee. She feels that Arlington has fine schools, that the work of the teachers is truly 'inspirational', but that changes in the present committee would broaden its scope."

George L. Cronin pointed out that he was born in Arlington, and had been through the local schools. He is a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association. "Arlington schools should be the finest in the state, and I will endeavor to make them so when I am elected," was his promise.

The opening remarks of M. K. Cross Stratton, candidate for re-election, were humorous. He said that he wasn't born in Arlington or anywhere near here. "I was born out west, where men are men." However, for the past seventeen years he has been a resident of the town. For twenty odd years he has been connected with the Executive Department of Education of the state. He has served on the Committee for the last six years. He has been a teacher of all grades, his daughters, also, are now teaching in Arlington.

Mr. Stratton spoke for Mr. Donahue, another candidate, who could not attend the meeting because of illness. He said that Mr. Donahue had served on the Committee since the regrettable loss of Doctor McCarthy. Mr. Donahue, he believes, is the finest of men.

The Searchlight Club was heartily thanked by John F. Brennan for the opportunity to speak. Mr. Brennan felt that "every candidate should come under the searchlight." He believes that, due to some bad influences of the modern screen, stage and literature, the problems of teaching have increased. He would deny the child nothing, yet respect the taxpayer's pocketbook. "The teacher's salary should not be cut. 'I am not a professional educator, I am a newspaper man. Just a plain business man is essential on the Committee to temper the professional viewpoint. The problem of health will receive my minutest attention.'"

Mrs. Katherine W. Lacey, candidate for re-election to the School Committee, said that she had four children in the schools now. She is a college graduate. After college she took the training course at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Work in the children's ward, and with babies fascinated her. Because of this practical experience she feels that she would be an asset to the committee.

Mortimer H. Wells could not be present, so Mrs. Therese Turner spoke for him, her remarks showing her admiration for her fellow committeeman. Mr. Wells is up for re-election, having served for the past two years. "Men of experience are needed on the committee," she said. "Mr. Wells is a business man, thus providing the needed business outlook." While serving on the School Committee, Mr. Wells' duties have been the care of the buildings and grounds. "Their excellent condition is testimony to his faithfulness to his position." Being at present in the insurance business and having served on the Finance Committee, Mr. Wells' knowledge of costs, upkeep, and other items is of great value.

Basil L. Griffin was very brief in his remarks. He merely said that he had taught school for two years. He promises but one thing—a clean administration.

Albert Wunderly, president of the Kiwanis; Rev. John Nicol Mark, the speaker of the evening, and Mrs. Mark.

Mrs. Moses gracefully and cordially greeted the members and their guests, who came from Boston, Somerville, Cambridge and Newton, and introduced the speaker. Mr. Mark sprinkled his talk with the humorous stories for which he is famous. While these kept his audience amused, they did not lessen the emphasis of his message—the need of being fit both mentally and physically in order to meet the demands of today.

Miss Phyllis Blake, soprano, sang solos as did also Merton Bowe tenor, and the two gave a duet. All of the songs were much enjoyed. One of the evening's pleasing events was the presentation to Mrs. Moses by Mrs. Bertha Murphy on behalf of the club, of a bouquet of lovely red roses. Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Harriett Blake were in charge of the arrangements for this delightful affair. Mrs. Alice I. Goñanc assisted the treasurer, Miss Isabel Gratto, in taking tickets.
